Through their smart and innovative advertising, Orange is probably the most recognisable Network in the UK. Its not only their marketing which is smart and innovative, their products and services provide the business customer with all the tools they need to communicate efficiently

Vodafone continues to support the most customers in the UK. They have been the front-runners in providing mobile communications to the UK market since the birth of mobile technology in the 80's. With 99% UK population coverage, the first network to offer a mainstream business 3G service and with access to 331 networks in 141 countries, Vodafone are perfectly positioned to cater for your business needs

With over 2 million small businesses in the UK each one of them will have very different and individual needs for their mobile communication solution. O2 have 7 core messages that they believe offer the strongest small business proposition available:

- The best call success rate ever, beating all other UK mobile figures previously published by oftel*
- Their Business Customer Service Team are available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year
- They were the first network to launch BlackBerry in the UK and continue to be the market leader across Europe

- With O2 you'll get the lowest prices of any UK network operator for all calls made within the EU
- You can get your bills on paper, online or by Email
- You can use your O2 mobile on almost 400 networks in 160 countries
- You can get fast mobile data on almost 100 GPRS networks abroad in nearly 60 countries

*From April-September '03 O2 achieved a national mobile call success rate of 99.2%, exceeding all previously published figures in the Oftel Mobile Network Operators Call Success Rate Surveys.

T Mobile has always been perceived as a consumer brand. Network coverage not that great? Not anymore!!!! T Mobile has worked hard to change people's perceptions and now deliver the essentials for any business. Their network coverage is as good as any; commercially they remain very strong, award winning customer service along with all the business connectivity products such as wireless data, mobile data and BlackBerry. T-Mobile should now be seriously considered when accessing your business requirements.
